Oswald Acted Alone

Hoover In Statement On Evidence

WASHINGTON (AP)— FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today all available evidence indicates that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"Not one shred of evidence has been developed to link any other person in a conspiracy with Oswald to assassinate President Kennedy," Hoover said in a statement.

A number of books, articles and statements recently have raised questions about the validity of the findings of the Warren Commission, which named Oswald as the assassin and said he acted alone. The FBI turned over all its own findings to the commission.

Near midnight only two couples were left in the dance contest. One of the couples began what a policeman called a "simulated sex act". When the mu-sic stopped, officials of the party decided to call the contest a tie and divide the prize money.

Police said the majority of the crowd seemed to favor the couple who had the most daring act. Police then announced the show was over.

The crowd grew restless and fighting broke out. In a matter of minutes, Sgt. Don Kaser said the situation got out of hand. Empty bottles began flying from the balcony.

All available officers were summoned to the scene. Fighting spilled out onto 13th St., the main entrance.

Two hours after the outbreak groups gathering on downtown streets had been dispersed.

THE GREATEST BOOK EVER WRITTEN The Bible is not just a textbook for preachers and teachers. It is a book for all the people, and any church member who is indifferent to, or ignores the Bible has no sense of loyalty to God. The Bible must be the center of our worship if we are true Christians. There is no other book, or creed, or set of rules that can replace it. We believe in the Bible as our only rule of faith because it alone is God's word. Come and worship with us.

SOS From Station WXXXX

Only a few years ago, Americans waited expectantly for the revolution that television was supposed to work in the nation's educational system.

Today, to be sure, some 10 million elementary, high school and college students, plus another million persons in the general population, are served in greater or lesser degree by the 115 educational television stations in the United States. ITV (instructional television) is a proved teaching tool.

Yet for all this, the most significant contribution television has made to education is that it has "displayed in public what had heretofore gone on behind too many closed classroom doors-uninspired teaching."

This indictment is contained in a 95-page report, "Learning by Television," published by The Fund for the Advancement of Education.

The authors of the report cite a survey made by the National Instructional Television Laboratory which found that of 150 filmed or taped

GIs' Christmas Spirit In Viet Nam

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

ON THE CAMBODIAN BORDER, South Viet Nam-"What do I want for Christmas? My wife asked me the same thing.

"What I want is to be still around-aliveat Christmas. Other things seem secondary. The lieutenant went back to writing a letter. He'd heard from his wife that she's received no allotments for more than two months and had no money. He was trying to figure out how to straighten that bureaucratic foul-up.

You sit, as here, on the roof of a building with the flood water up to the eaves and rising. The men you're with expect a raid aimed at wiping out the post because the Viet Cong know the precarious position the flood has put the unit in - with much of the ammunition under 12 feet of water.

A couple or so miles out the area is under Viet Cong control. This VC territory is the land in which these few men live and operate and die by night.

In this situation, human life takes on more meaning. You think how you might make your own life more useful after this is over. You wonder if you've been a good son, husband, father.

But most of all these men talk about the Vietnamese child who should have an operation, the boys and girls who need a better chance at school and of the farmers who live with little hope of bettering their lot. Their proudest talk was not of successful amoushes but of a new school they had helped build.

A few miles away I went unannounced to a primary school, broke unwittingly into the midst of a class session. In the corner, inconspicuously, was a GI. He was helping out with the English teaching in his off hours. "The teacher really teaches the class. I only help with the pronunciation,"

No one organized this. It wasn't official civic action. The private came because he wanted to come - as often as he could.

This is what Christmas is all about. The Jesus who was born in a manger spent most of his ministry telling men that they must help other men - in the best way they could.

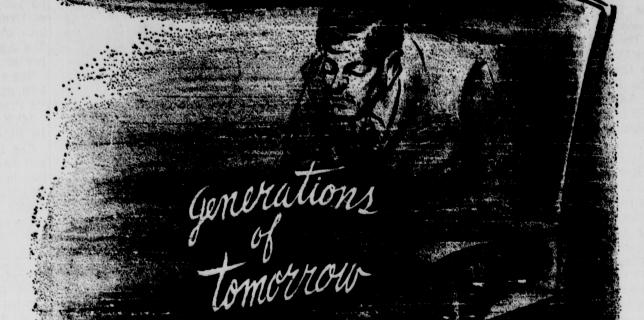

The gift these GIs are bringing to South Viet Nam is their spirit of love for people

It's not the number of school buildings they've helped to build, but the fact that they want to help build schools. It's not the medicine they give to people or the candy they hand out to children but the thought in their hearts that makes them want to give the medicine and candy.

Jesus said no man hath greater love than to lay down his life for his friend. These men are laying their lives on the line.

If they were not doing this we would all be a little bit smaller, knowing that we had failed a people wanting freedom.

But they are also doing something more. They are giving of themselves. There is no

Bruising Problems Ahead For Johnson

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) - This has not been one of President Johnson's best years. His popularity went down, his troubles up, and they will still be staring at him in 1967.

His performance after his two recent operations, ignoring doctors' orders to take it easy, could be interpreted as an effort to convince anyone who had any doubts that he is as full of vitali-

He will need it all these next years, which will be quite different from the beginning of 1965 when, still fresh from his tremendous 1964 victory over Sen. Barry Goldwater, he was lic approval.

But was he really saturated then in public approval? An obvious question surfaces as time passes and his popularity dwindles: How much of his huge 1964 vote was public approval and how much simply rejection of Goldwater who, as the election showed, was out of step with his times?

Within two years Johnson's popularity dived so much that public opinion polls show a preference for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, New York Democrat, and Michigan's Republican Gov. George Romney.

But on the wings of the election two years ago, and with great Democratic majorities in Congress, Johnson was able to pass a legislative miracle in 1965 in getting so much of his "Great Society" programs through.

He may never achieve such success again. At the end of 1965 no prophet was needed to foresee that Johnson couldn't keep up the pace in 1966. The country and the government would need time to digest all that was done

On top of this, as months become years, Johnson is being criticized as a poor national administrator of some of the very former may be just as difficult programs he fought for.

True, he was a political genius in handling the Senate when he was there. But running the Senate and running the vast, rumbling government is like the difference between a candy store and a department store. Further, because the 1966 elections put more Republicans in Congress, Johnson's ability to make Congress listen will be restricted, making life tougher for him, even though he is not expected to try a repetition of

In addition, he must try to recapture his popularity if he intends to run again in 1968 with hope of winning. And he will have the war in Viet Nam on his

The longer this war lasts, the more the criticism for Johnson, no matter how hard he tries otherwise to win approval. And just as a starter he has some bruising problems immediately

For instance, how to handcuff inflation? Will he ask for a tax increase? Just this week, to reduce government spending, which is one of the demands of critics, he ordered a $700 million cut, a 17.5 per cent reduction, in federally aided highway programs.

Judging from this, he will probably slash right and left in government spending. And there's a new civil rights bill, which Congress sidetracked this year. Almost certainly whatever he proposes will try to eliminate to some degree discrimination in buying and selling homes.

But if there are some big racial riots, chances for a new civil rights law look dim. These are just a few of his problems, the most obvious ones. Perhaps the worst ones are not even imagined yet.

At this moment, looking ahead, his two greatest tasks are regaining his popularity and ending the Vietnamese war. The

as the latter.

Much of his unpopularity is based on personal dislike by people who never met him but only watch him on television and dislike his mannerisms. How he is going to change them is difficult to imagine, for one thing about Johnson is sure: his field is not in the performing

High Living Often Causes An Economic Indigestion

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business News Aanalyst

NEW YORK (AP) - It is a fact of life — and an irony too that when an economic boom same result as before. nears its peak more people are distressed than was the case in poorer times.

High living often results in economic indigestion.

Today's economy is on nearly the highest plane in the nation's history. But economists, politicians, brokers, Cabinet officers, businessmen and students are carping as never before.

The din became overpowering recently when housewives joined the uproar.

The complaints are endless. Prices are high, goods are shoddy, taxes burdensome, stocks declining, wages out of line, good manners and service at a new low. And nobody can agree on how to resolve the situation, are afraid President Johnson least of all the politicians.

The distress is enough to make some adults wish aloud for the good old days when, they claim, they were a little bit poorer but a good deal happier.

But youth, too, complains. Having had little previous experience with which to compare their present situation, young people do not always subscribe to an argument that they "never had it so good." Nevertheless, in a material way, a good argument can be made for saying this is the nearest we have ever been to a promised land. One answer to this curious paradox is economic motion. When the economy is moving ahead, as it has for nearly six years, the benefits of increased production are spread around. Wages and profits rise and prices remain steady. When the economy nears a both producer and consumer shared the results. When it slowed they began to scrap for the smaller dollar.

Arguments break out. Economists talk of slowing the economy, of hutting on the brakes through less spending or more taxes. But the problem is political as well as economic. Republicans right now, for example, might give them a tax increase and the blame, too.

Businessmen complain, as they do now, that profits are eroding as the economic strains make their operations less efficient. And workers find their pay check isn't going as far as it used to go.

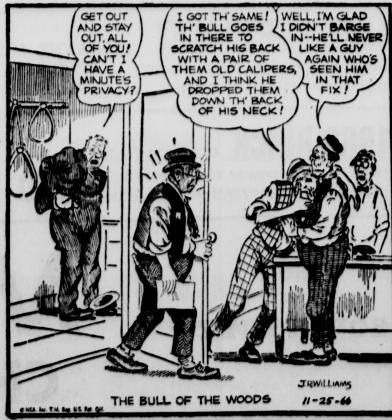

The bills that come in the mail are examined more critically. And more errors are discovered in them, for department stores or brokers or banks might be feeling the strain of a heavy work load with inexperienced help. The result: more arguments.

Newest Zoo Has Varied Collection

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A Rhino that survived rigors of the Viet Nam war, a chimp that receives fan mail, and a horse brought back from extinction are among stars of the nation's newest zoo.

The $10-million Los Angeles Zoo will have 2,200 animals on display when it opens next Monday, making it one of the nation's five largest.

It replaces the overcrowded, 54-year-old Griffith Park Zoo which citizens regarded as so antiquated that 80 per cent of them voted in 1957 to float a bond issue for the new one.

The new zoo also is in Griffith Park, five miles north of downtown Los Angeles.

"I used to feel sorry for the animals at the old zoo," says one of its officials. "There were the elephants, for instance, so crowded together they couldn't have been happy.

"The old zoo was built for 200 animals back in 1912 and there were 2,500 animals there when we closed it last August."

The new zoo, designed by Charles Luckman & Associates, has eliminated bars and placed animals in moat-surrounded concrete compounds or glassed-

There is Herman the Rhino, a $24,000 purchase from India. Its journey to Los Angeles last spring was interrupted by a stop at Saigon. The South Viet Nam harbor was so clogged with war materiel that Herman's ship was delayed a month. When Herman's grassy food supply ran short, Americans sent lawn cuttings to the ship for fodder.

Princess Lollipop, a 1½-year-old chimpanzee, was born in the old zoo. Keepers held a contest to name her. The reward - a certificate naming the winner a monkey's uncle or aunt.

"We had entries from 39 states and the Canadian provinces - from businessmen. school children, housewives and even a nun. One woman sent songs and birthday cards to the chimp," said John Hunt, zoo publicist.

The zoo's solution was to combine the two most popular names and issue thousands of certificates, making all the contestants honorary monkey's uncles and aunts.

Recent acquisitions include two white kangaroos, white rhinos and a pair of Prezwalski horses. Only 200 remain of this breed, which once roamed the steppes of central Asia by the hundreds of thousands.

IS THIS AN AD?

The following are a few observations from your neighbors at the West Side Variety.

Several days ago, we dug all our Christmas goodies out - they're all new this year. The big guys started early so we did too. Each year it gets earlier . . . it might be simpler just to leave 'em out year 'round. We may as well grin and bear it, I guess.

Will there be any Christ in Christmas this year? Probably not much if it resembles previous years. A lot of us will be racing around tense as cats; we'll forget to smile; we'll be ducking elbows and in general feel more like snarling than anything else. I don't believe the First Christmas was quite like that!

Not too many years ago, we used to visit with our neighbors; we even spoke to strangers on the street. We weren't so darn cynical and Sedalia was really a friendly little town. We weren't in such a hurry, either! It's still a little town with a lot of fine people. We can make it even better with a few smiles, some "hellos" plus a dash of kindness. Cynical, unfriendly people are basically unhappy and dissatisfied with themselves. Our lives on this earth are much too short for this.

We aren't preaching. Preachers always have to practice what they preach. Here, at the West Side Variety, we're merely going to try our best to put as much Christ in Christmas as we know how. If we slip, you tell us!

Come by and relax a while.

Seek Profit In Movies For 'Tube'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can the movie industry make brand new feature movies for television and still turn a profit?

That is the question that producers are mulling over, now that the networks are feeling the need for such a product. With the dwindling of supplies of theatrical movies that have not yet been released to television; new ones will be needed.

As part of a deal with MGM, CBS will pay $800,000 apiece for 18 future films. It appears that these movies will be released in theaters first, then on television. The network reasons that the publicity of a theatrical release can only help the films' appeal for television viewers.

NBC has ordered a schedule of films from Universal for an undisclosed amount. Three of these "world premiere" films will be shown on the Tuesday Night Movie, five on Saturday night. The first appears Saturday night: "Fame is the Name of the Game," a comedy-mystery with Tony Franciosa, Jill St. John, Nanette Fabray, Lee Bowman and Jay C. Flippen.

Bowman and Jay C. Flippen.
Universal's Jennings Lang explained the economics of the seatures-for-television:

"We can make them for an average of a million dollars, and at that price they are economically sound. Prices for features are going up, and we can get added revenue from showing some of the films overseas; of the first ten, I'd say about four would do well in foreign meaters.

"The features are also helpful as pilots for series. Our next three are designed with that in mind — 'I Love a Mystery' with Les Crane, 'Ironside' with Raymond Burr, and 'Outsider' with Darrin McGavin or Harry Guardino.''

Lang said the new features are comparable to the regular movie product with these exceptions: They won't be spectacles with mob scenes and huge sets; the films can't afford million-dollar stars like Paul Newman and Julie Andrews: nor can they hire top directors like Billy Wilder or William Wyler.

"On the other hand, I have been talking to foreign directors like Fellini, Dassin, Richardson and Godard about making films for us next year," Lang said. "I told Fellini: 'How would you like to show your Rome to 40 million Americans?' He was excited about the idea."

In at least two respects, the new features may be better on television than movies made for theaters, Lang said. Directors are instructed to frame their shots so figures on the edge of the screen won't disappear. Also, the score is edited to provide more adroit transitions for commercial breaks.

Lang, a large, bearish man of vast enthusiasm, sees the features- for-television as the wave of the future.

Heart Victim Dies When Ambulance Hit

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A man being taken to a St. Louis hospital died Thursday after the ambulance conveying him was struck

Man Dies When Car Leaves Road

ALTON, III. (AP) — Joseph Fitzgerald, 55, of Florissant, Mo., a union steward, died Thursday at an Alton hospital of injuries suffered Monday when his oar left the road while following an auto taking an injured worker to the hospital.

Fitzgerald was a pipefitter at the Union Electric Co.'s Portage des Sloux plant construction site on the Mississippi River.

Missouri highway patrolmen said the victim's auto left Highway 94 near West Alton, Mo., in St. Charles County. They said they were told union rules require stewards to accompany injured workers to the hospital.

by an auto as the ambulance crossed an intersection against a red traffic light, police said.

The victim was Lamar Gatlia, 49, of St. Louis. Officers said he had a history of heart trouble and was being taken to the hospital after suffering an apparent heart attack.

The coroner's office said an investigation would be made.

The ambulance, using its red light and siren, was struck by an auto driven by Oscar Blue, 53, of St. Louis, who suffered injuries.

Gatlin was pronounced dead at Homer G. Phillips Hospital.

The Pussycat. It won't eat you out of house and home.

A Karmann Ghia is a Pussycat. Half beautiful; half Volkswagen.

lts sporty looking body is hand-shaped, but its chassis and engine are the same ones we use in our economical Beetle.

So a Pussycat averages 30 mpg, and when you get the oil changed It only takes 5 pints.

And its air-cooled engine never uses antifreeze.

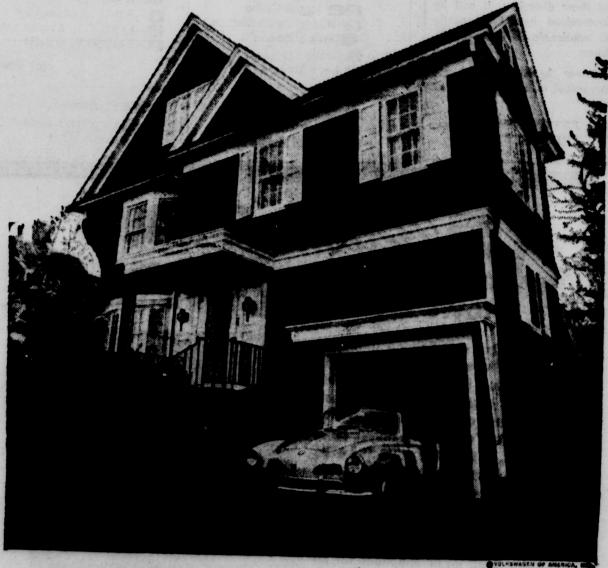

And if something should foul up mechanically, just bring it into a Volkswagen Dealer, and it'll cost you what a VW would cost to get It fixed.

Also, the tires should last for about 40,000 miles, even if you enjoy cruising

Sure, we know there are cars around with feroclous names, that will go factor than ours, but how much will they cost to keep up after you buy them?

After you buy a Pussycat, it's all downs

Nervousness, Despondency, Irritability Result From Over-Sensitive Nervous

System

It is regrettable to think that few believe that anything can be done for them if they are troubled with these functional disorders. They blame it completely on situations and predicaments. The oversensitive nerve system senses things too acutely; it exaggerates the strength of stimuli and acts accordingly. The over - sensitive nerve system is tense and intolerant. For instance noises which in health we disregard become annoying. Even the ticking of a clock, the slamming of a door, the noise and pace of traffic, will cause unreasonable disturbances. Relaxation and complete rest with an over - sensitive nerve system is nigh impossible.

Yet, if it is understood oversensitive nerve systems play an important part in the development and maintainance of these disorders, it will be understood how Chiropractic is applicable in these conditions.

HOLLYWOOD-Probably the best cast comedy on television is "Hogan's Heroes," at least as far as national origins. The German parts are played by Germans or Austrians while Englishmen portray Englishmen and Americans are Americans. But most accurately cast is Robert Clary who plays Louis LaBeau, the French corporal. Clary is not only French, he was an inmate of a German concentration camp in World War II.
